DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-20, drawn to a detector (and method of making same) using movement/deformation of an optical waveguide, classified in class 385, subclass 13.
 - II. Claims 21-23, drawn to a method for measuring and testing using an optical waveguide, classified in class 356, subclass 73.1.
 - III. Claims 24-26, drawn to a method of making an optical detector, classified in class 385, subclass 13.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product, such as measuring light characteristics of other components, such as solids, optical switches, laser diodes, etc. The “whereby” clause is an intended use of the apparatus, but it could be used for materially different measuring purposes.
3. Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process, such as cutting the substrate, then physically inserting an optical waveguide into a v-groove, and then sliding the optical waveguide into position.

4. Inventions II and III are related as process of using the product and process of making the product. The use as claimed can be practiced with a materially different product, since the addition of an element that caused regular vibrations, and measured the frequency of these vibrations can be added. Since the product is not currently allowable, restriction is proper between said method of making and method of using. The process of using the product and process of making the product are patentable distinctions between one another.

5. Because these inventions (Group I and III vs. Group II) are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
